Plant Therapy announced the release of Bergamot Mint, Caraway Seed CO<sub>2</sub>, and Cubeb 100 percent pure essential oils, adding to their extensive product offering.

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO (PRWEB) MARCH 07, 2018

Plant Therapy, a leader in the aromatherapy industry, is launching three new essential oils to add to their extensive line of 100 percent pure and natural essential oils. Bergamot Mint, Caraway Seed CO<sub>2</sub>, and Cubeb are now available on Plant Therapy's website.

Bergamot Mint Essential Oil originates from the United States and is extracted using steam distillation from the flowering tops of the perennial flowering Bergamot Mint Plant. It is safer than other mint oils, and unlike Bergamot, it is not phototoxic. Bergamot Mint is calming and refreshing, and once you experience its incredible properties, it is sure to be an oil you will not forget. Bergamot Mint is available in an undiluted 10 mL bottle.

Caraway Seed CO<sub>2</sub> is sourced from Poland and is extracted using carbon dioxide from the seeds of the Caraway plant. Jam-packed with therapeutic properties, Caraway Seed CO<sub>2</sub> is a must have in your essential oil collection. Caraway Seed CO<sub>2</sub> is extracted using carbon dioxide. This form of extraction is richer and closer to the true plant, retaining more of its beneficial properties. Due to the extraction method, it has a longer shelf life as well, lasting up to 5 years. Caraway Seed CO<sub>2</sub> is available in an undiluted 10 mL bottle.

Cubeb Essential Oil originates from Indonesia and is extracted using steam distillation from the dried Cubeb berries of the Cubeb plant, which is a part of the pepper family. It has a warm-woody, spicy scent and is known for its amazing therapeutic properties. Cubeb can be used to help support a healthy immune and respiratory system during times of seasonal illnesses. Cubeb is available in an undiluted 30 mL bottle.

"These new essential oils being introduced will be great additions to anyone's essential oil collection," said Retha Nesmith, Plant Therapy Brand Manager and Certified Aromatherapist. "We are continually seeking out exciting, 100 percent pure and natural new oils that will delight our customers and offer even more aromatherapy options.”

All three of these new oils were previously featured as Plant Therapy’s Oils of the Month, a monthly program which introduces new essential oils that are not currently sold as part of Plant Therapy’s product line. These three oils were so popular as Oils of the Month, Plant Therapy added them to their product line.
